Redactions

Automate document redactions using one simple application.

Automate document redactions using one simple application.

Ensuring consistency and accuracy when applying redactions during a document review exercise can be repetitive and time consuming, involving unnecessarily duplication of work.

Using Mask-it! to manage your redaction exercise saves countless hours of manual work by:

Automatically redacting keywords and regular expressions

Automatically redacting personal information and email headers

Simultaneously applying redactions to all copies of a document

Keeping track of what redactions have been applied and by whom

Redacting multiple document types, including Word, Excel, Pdf and Email

Exporting permanently redacted documents from Relativity with ease

Mask-it! for Excel

Often, both relevant information and privileged or sensitive material requiring redaction can be found within the same Excel spreadsheet. Mask-it! allows users to redact the native version of the Excel, directly within Relativity.

Mask-it! enables:

- Point and click redaction of Excels
- Automatic bulk redaction applying keywords and rules
- Discovery of tracked changes and comments
- Exposure of hidden cells
- Automatic isolation and extraction of specific rows from Excel spreadsheets

Automate redactions of keywords and personal information

As well redacting keywords, Mask-it! is powered by technology that identifies both simple instances (phone numbers, emails, names and credit card numbers) and more subtle instances (such as documents discussing a person's political or religious beliefs) of personal information within documents, which can either be highlighted or automatically redacted.

Before

After

Maskit enables users to highlight keywords and email headers within documents before choosing whether to redact them

Relativity Compatibility & Access

Mask-it! fully adheres to Relativity and Relativity One's security requirements. It was built using Relativity's standard APIs and objects and seamlessly integrates with the software, reducing the need for separate training and support time. Mask-it! is simple to install using the Relativity Application Deployment System.
